The Hobart Function Centre Goes Green...

...and many other colours, too

The Hobart Function and Conference Centre has just launched a sensational new look, and is reducing its environmental footprint in the process. High output low consumption LED spotlights are being combined with specially made reflective table decorations to produce a spectacular effect.

The stunning setting of The HFCC is enhanced by the new high tech lights

As you can see from the photos, the multi-coloured lights and the reflective 'trees' give the tables and the room a magical ambiance which is fast becoming the talk of the town.

The specially designed trees are available in silver or white, and create an amazing centerpiece for the tables

"We thought they'd be popular," said HFCC general manager, Bernadette Woods, "but we've been bowled over by the response. As soon as people see the photos they decide right there and then that they must have this effect for their event. When the guests walk into the room you can see their jaws drop, and that really helps

Another advantage of the LED spotlights is that the wonderfully soft and warm light they exude is produced with low environmental impact. Each one of these spotlights use a meager 10% of the power that a standard incandescent spotlight.

LEDs produce a soft, warm light which fills the room

The lights can be combined with candles with spectacular effect

The LEDs also last up to 100,000 hours, far more than a standard light, which saves on more emissions during the production process. The colour of the light can be changed at the flick of a switch, allowing colour combinations for different effects.

Our in-house supplier of this technology Nick Crawford, managing director of HAVE says “This is only the beginning of an exciting rollout of new technologies planned for the coming months.” He went onto say that “Both HAVE and our venue customers are committed to the best events and the best environmental outcomes”.

Guests can combine their favourite colours for unique effects
